—Every good cook is careful to dispose at once of the water in which meat has been washed. Only a very few hours are necessary to change it into a foul-smelling liquid if the temperature is suitable. This change is due to a little plant called bacterium termo. A drop of this putrid material under the microscope reveals many thousands of them, acting under a peculiar vibratile motion.

The great composer says that in all that relates to melody and to temperament the negroes are natural musicians, but that it will take many generations of culture to develop their intellects to the point of appreciating the higher and larger forms of music.

-Daniel Webster once sat for his portrait to the late G. P. A. Healy and the senator's remark when he surveyed the completed picture became one of the artist's favorite anecdotes in after years. "I think," said Webster, as he "that is a face I have often shaved." Healy found Andrew Jackson a disagreeable and unwilling "subject," and ne compensated himself by painting Old Hickory with absolute fidelity to nature, not glossing a single defect. The portrait gives Jackson an ugly, savage and pallid face.

-Sometimes a man who wants to stop a street car snaps his fingers at the driver or the gripman. It seems as though the gripman would be exapperated by that, but he doesn't appear to be. Some people lift a hand high in the air and hold it there, and some people wave an umbrella or a cane; but the great majority of people have discovered that for all practical purposes in stopping a car a toothpick is as good as a fence rail. All that is necessary is to catch the driver's eye. It isn't necessary to shove a house on the track in front of him.
